FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Call for Readers for the 2nd Annual Iowa City Poetry Alfresco

Iowa City Poetry, a nonprofit organization fostering community through a love of poetry, will be holding an evening of open-air readings – Iowa City Poetry Alfresco – on Saturday April 30 (rain date May 7).

These readings will take place every half-hour from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. at various locations in the College Hill Neighborhood. The 20-minute readings will be miked to allow for social distancing, and all participants will be encouraged to be masked.

The inaugural Iowa City Poetry Alfresco event, held last May in the Northside Neighborhood, presented 32 writers in 12 readings. “We hope to build on that success, again showcasing the diversity of literary voices in Iowa City and Eastern Iowa,” said ICP Advisory Council member David Duer. “Both established and emerging writers are encouraged to apply.”

Those interested in sharing some of their poetry or short prose should go to iowacitypoetry.com to fill out a short application form or contact Lisa Roberts at iowacitypoetry@gmail.com or David Duer at dduer72@gmail.com.
